HST fighters set to recall MLAs with 'hit list'

CAMPAIGN A lengthy "HST Hit List" is the latest sally against the harmonized sales tax by campaigners, who say the Liberal MLAs named in the document will be subjected to recall legislation.

The list includes 24 cabinet members and backbench MLAs, presiding over ridings where the number of signatures on the anti-HST petition represents 25 per cent or more of the population. Premier Gordon Campbell is not among those targeted.

"It's going to be very exciting," said Fight HST leader Bill Vander Zalm, who added that his organization plans to pursue a recall of one or two MLAs at a time so as to send a strong message without directly overthrowing the provincial government.

Recall legislation is binding, and may be repeated an indefinite number of times in order to remove an MLA from office and force a byelection.

Henrik Sedin poses for a portrait yesterday with the Hart Memorial Trophy during the 2010 NHL Awards at the Palms Casino Resort in Las Vegas, Nev.

Henrik takes Hart

Kesler runner-up for Selke

JEFF HODSON

Henrik Sedin has become the first-ever Vancouver Canucks player to be named the National Hockey League's most valuable player.

Sedin, 29, topped the league in scoring and beat out superstars Alexander Ovechkin and Sidney Crosby to win the Hart Memorial Trophy during the NHL's annual awards show last night in Las Vegas.

The award is given to the player voted most valuable to his team. Sedin had 894 points, 60 more than second place Ovechkin.

"I was just standing there," Sedin told Kristin Reid of Canucks.com after the show. "I didn't think they were going to mention my name. I thought it would be Alex or Sidney. I was a little surprised and happy."

Sedin notched 112 points and was a plus-35 in his outstanding 2009-2010 season, winning the scoring race and becoming the first Canucks player to win the Art Ross Trophy.

For the Swede, the awards capped a season that saw him set three franchise records, including passing Trevor Linden as the team's all-time assist leader and breaking Pavel Bure's single season point record.

He thanked past teammates Markus Naslund, Mattias Ohlund and even first-line mate Trent Klatt for taking care of him and twin brother Daniel during their first couple of years in the league.

Fellow Canucks forward Ryan Kesler, also in Las Vegas for the awards last night, finished runner-up to Detroit Red Wing Pavel Datsyuk for the Frank J. Selke Trophy for best defensive forward.

All-star brothers

- Henrik was named to the NHL's first all-star team, while twin brother Daniel was named to the second all-star team.

Man accused in puppy shooting set for trial tomorrow

KRISTEN THOMPSON
kristen.thompson@metronews.ca

COURT A Quadra Island man accused of shooting a sick boy's puppy in the face with a shotgun two years ago is expected to be tried tomorrow.

Cody Wellard allegedly shot Max Rose's Jack Russell terrier Seymour, who was given to Max as a gift to celebrate the end of three years of cancer treatment.

Nick Rose, Max's father, said his son is still traumatized from the incident and the family would have been able to move on if Wellard had pleaded guilty at the time.

"It's been ridiculous," Rose said. "He should accept responsibility for what he did and here he's put all our family and his family through all this.

"In a child's life, two years is a long time. Max is still mad, still angry, still wants to see justice. We were all deeply affected by it."

Rose said he hopes Wellard will at least be prohibited from owning firearms.

"I would like to see some justice, but I'm not holding my breath," he said.

Rose said Max — who was given a new puppy shortly after Seymour was shot — still has ongoing health issues.

"It's never going to be over for him. The biggest damage was the emotional damage," Rose said. "It's hard to express just how sick this was."

Charges upheld against Berner

KRISTEN THOMPSON
kristen.thompson@metronews.ca

A woman who was driving the car that killed a four-year-old Delta girl has lost her appeal to have the charges stayed on the grounds that evidence was lost when her vehicle was scrapped.

Carol Berner admits to being behind the wheel when she lost control and killed Alexa Middelaer in 2008, but denies being drunk.

Her lawyer, David Tarnow, argued that because ICBC sent Berner's car to the scrapyard, he was unable to have the vehicle examined to see if the brakes and steering failed.

But Judge Peder Gulbransen ruled that it was neither the Crown's nor the police's responsibility to make sure Berner had her car inspected before handing it over to ICBC.

KRISTEN THOMPSON/METRO VANCOUVER

Michael and Laurel Middelaer, parents of four-year-old Alexa, outside Surrey provincial court yesterday.

"Police had no legal power to control what happened to the vehicle," said Gulbransen. "The car was sold for scrap because Miss. Berner allowed it to be sold."

Laurel Middelaer, Alexa's mother, said she feels validated and that "common sense and reasonable thinking prevailed."

"It is reassuring there is that level of accountability," she said. "We feel content that the case will continue. This was just a diversion. What we're all really looking for closure."

Const. Sharlene Brooks said it was disappointing that the defence suggested the Delta police were negligent in their handling of the case. "For defence to attack the reputation of the Delta Police Department is an act of desperation and frustration," she said.

VSB marks 11 schools for possible closure

JEFF HODSON
jeff.hodson@metronews.ca

$1.68M

Yesterday's report references a special advisor's report that suggests the district could save $1.68 million per year through the closure of five schools.

EDUCATION The Vancouver School Board last night released a list of 11 elementary schools, predominately on the city's East Side, that could potentially be closed to make up an $18-million budget shortfall.

The list includes six elementary schools — Bruce Elementary, Carleton Elementary, Hudson Elementary, MacDonald Elementary, Queen Alexandra Elementary and Seymour Elementary.

Five annexes were also named, and a sixth annex has previously been identified for potential closure.

According to a school board report, a plan will be drafted within two months that will recommend which of the schools should be closed, and outlines the public consultation process.

Consultation will likely take place this fall, to allow for a decision by the end of the year.

The closures would not take place until June 30, 2011, the end of the next school year.

Also recommended was that the district combine Britannia Elementary with Britannia Secondary into a K-12 school.

Virk killer receives full parole

MURDER Warren Glowatski, who was convicted along with Kelly Ellard of murdering Victoria teen Reena Virk, has been granted full parole.

Members of the National Parole Board say Glowatski does not pose an undue risk to the public.

Virk was 14 when she was swarmed by eight teens, beaten and later drowned under a suburban Victoria bridge on Nov. 14, 1997.

Three girls pleaded guilty and three more were convicted in the beating that preceded the murder, while Glowatski and Ellard were separately convicted of second-degree murder.

Glowatski, who was 17 when Virk was killed, was sentenced to life in prison with no chance of parole for seven years. He was granted day parole in July 2007.

While Ellard has seen convictions overturned, the Supreme Court of Canada ruled last year to restore a guilty verdict against her.

Death sparks captivity debate

RAGNAR HAGEN
for Metro Vancouver

The death of Nala, the baby beluga at the Vancouver Aquarium has rekindled the debate about the ethics of keeping whales in captivity.

Annelise Sorg from No Whales in Captivity said the cetaceans are "psychologically stressed" and have nothing to do.

"They are just stuck in a little concrete bathtub," Sorg said.

She believes boredom is one reason that a penny and pebbles were found in Nala.

The objects became lodged in an unusual "pocket" off her airway, causing infection and swelling and contributing to her death.

However, John Nightingale, president of the Vancouver Aquarium, said that as long as the animals are properly taken care of, they are better off in captivity than in the wild.

Aurora and Nala at Vancouver Aquarium shortly after the calf was born in June 2009.

Nightingale counters that even though whales live a different lifestyle in the wild; they still "play with all sorts of stuff."

"They find stones in almost all of them, in their stomachs. So clearly whales pick up stones and in fact stones may be a helpful part of their digestive system," he said.

Nightingale also points out that because there are no veterinarians in the wild, whales have better chance of battling infections when in captivity.

HST bad news for small business, NDP says

TAX The harmonized sales tax will be disastrous for small businesses in B.C. and should be scrapped immediately, B.C. New Democrats argued yesterday.

NDP leader Carole James was among those who joined Lower Mainland small business owners in a rally against the new tax at 47th Avenue and Fraser Street.

"There's no reason why (the provincial and the federal governments) can't go back and undo this agreement by July 1," said James.

"The HST will place a very heavy burden on all of us," said Peter Chiu, Director of the Lower Mainland Grocers Association, who added that it was hard to say whether some enterprises would be able to stay in business.

However, not everyone is convinced that the harmonized tax will be a bane to small business.

"One of the greatest benefits of the HST is that it will be easier to administer; there will be fewer exceptions (and less paperwork) for small businesses," said Candace Nancke, a certified general accountant.

While she acknowledges that small businesses may face increased expenses in the short term, Nancke says the elimination of "cost-layering" from the PST will eventually reduce prices for both small businesses and their customers.

Scotiabank StartRight® helps newcomers feel at home

Piyu Singh, 41, taught grades 11 and 12 in Delhi and her husband Vishwanath 45, was in the garment export business. They immigrated to Canada to experience a new culture.

The Singhs landed in Canada in February last year and celebrated their first Holi, the Indian festival celebrated with color, in Vancouver.

"It was the quietest Holi of my life," laughs Vishwanath, known to everyone as Vishy. "There was not much happening around us, but we have friends in Surrey, and it was nice to celebrate with them. We called home and spoke to family and friends."

"Our kids really missed all the Holi fun," adds Piyu."The gulal, the balloons filled with coloured water, the pichkaris (water pistols)… It made us nostalgic about the home we had left behind to settle in Canada".

Open a Scotiabank account even before you take off!

Vishy credits Pankaj Mehra, Director, India and South Asian Markets, with smoothening their move.

The Singhs were introduced to banking in Canada before they even set foot on Canadian soil. "We met Pankaj at a seminar he conducted in Delhi for new immigrants. He was friendly and explained things in detail. Before we left Delhi, we received e-mails from Pankaj and Harinder Virk, the Branch Manager at Fraser and 49th in Vancouver. Sorting out something as important as banking while still in India was hugely reassuring. On arrival in Vancouver, there were e-mails directing us to the closest branch. This was a big help at a time when we would otherwise have been a bit shaky and unsure".

"For brand new arrivals, the feeling that you know someone at the bank is comforting. It is like landing in Canada and meeting a friend. The welcome was very warm, very genuine."

Besides its five branches in India, Scotiabank has a strategic alliance with HDFC Bank, which enables new immigrants to open an account in Canada – even before they have boarded the plane!

They can fill out an application, apply for VISA cards, etc., and these are couriered to Canada, where their bank accounts are set up. A welcome kit is mailed out to the clients or, if their arrival is imminent, an e-mail detailing how to remit funds is sent out so everything is in place.

StartRight® keeps pace with your changing needs.

"Scotiabank offers a comprehensive StartRight® Program for newcomers to Canada," says Rania Llewellyn, Vice-President, Multicultural Banking. "It was created after a lot of research and is an innovative program, tailor-made for newcomers".

"I recommend StartRight to others who are in the process of immigrating. I tell everyone we are StartRight customers for life!" says Vishy.

Their children, Ridhav, 14, and Yoshita, 11, have settled in well. Yoshita in grade 6 has her own group of friends which includes a Filipino, a Mexican and a Fijian. "Both of them are the junior multicultural minded immigrants!" says Vishy.

The Singhs are full of optimism. A year ago, while Vishy hoped to be in the garment business, Piyu was thinking of moving into counseling.

Today, Vishy has done a lot of spadework for his garment import business. "With the help of Scotia Bank, I have been able to open a business account and seek advice from their senior trade officer, International trade. Limei Zhou at Scotia Bank's downtown regional office has been wonderful and I have made strong in-roads to the local buyer's base. Although, due to recession and other factors things are slow I remain positive" says Vishy.

Piyu is finally in a profession where she wanted to be. She is a program counselor with PICS, a multicultural immigrants serving agency. She loves her job since it was always her focus to either teach in Canada or help other immigrants in whatever way she could.

"As new immigrants, there are so many experiences we have had that I feel we can help guide other new immigrants."

"And finally, I have a car; our first vehicle in Canada! The time will come when we will purchase our first home in Canada and I know where I will go for help and guidance," says Vishy, "Scotiabank!"

Too close for comfort? Spy chief stuns Ottawa

CSIS Canada's top spy briskly backtracked from his suggestion that he's working to oust politicians under the influence of foreign governments.

It was the latest twist in a cloak-and-dagger drama that confused spy-watchers and elicited a terse response from the Prime Minister's Office.

Dick Fadden, director of the Canadian Security Intelligence Service, said in an interview with CBC-TV Tuesday that he was in the process of warning at least two provinces, through the Privy Council Office, that members of their cabinets are under the influence of foreign governments.

He declined to name the elected officials or countries involved, but when asked whether China was one of them Fadden said recent media reports on China's economic espionage in Canada were not "entirely incorrect."

Liberal public safety critic Mark Holland said the comments had "profound security implications."

But Fadden backpedalled yesterday.

He said he had "not apprised the Privy Council Office of the cases ... mentioned in the interview on CBC."

"At this point, CSIS has not deemed the cases to be of sufficient concern to bring them to the attention of provincial authorities," he added.

Meanwhile, Ontario Premier Dalton McGuinty said Canadians are owed more information on the CSIS chief's startling statements.

Fadden promised to alert the federal government so it could tell the relevant provincial governments about the ministers involved, but no one has told Ontario anything, said McGuinty.

"We have not been contacted, so that means from our perspective no news is good news," he said.

McGuinty noted the TV interview was taped weeks ago and said CSIS must elaborate on the allegations.

"I think, in fairness, what Canadians are owed right now is more information," said McGuinty.

"If there are some real concerns, let's find out exactly what those are and let's find a way to address them."

Last words of a calm pilot

DISASTER "We are not able to climb."

They are the eerily calm last words of the captain piloting a small plane that crashed early yesterday morning just moments after takeoff from Quebec City's airport, killing seven.

Two crew members and five passengers were aboard the Beechcraft King Air twin-turboprop belonging to Aéropro Group, authorities confirmed.

The plane went down in a rural area about two kilometres north of the end of the runway at Jean Lesage Airport.

The pilot radioed the tower that the right-side engine in the plane had failed and he was going to try to head back to the airport. He asked for emergency services to respond.

"Quebec tower, Aéropro 201 (here), we have a right engine problem, we're going to return for landing," the pilot told the tower.

"Roger," the controller responded, and asked if the pilot needed emergency services.

"Affirmative, we are unable to climb," the pilot answered.

Shain, who claimed she was the nurse kissed in the iconic Second World War photo, died Sunday. She was 91. Eisenstadt never got their names, and several women have claimed to be the nurse.

Gusher recapped after oil spilled much of day

Oil had spewed uncontrolled into the Gulf of Mexico for much of the day yesterday before engineers reattached a cap being used to contain the gusher and direct some of the crude to a surface ship.

The logistics co-ordinator onboard the Discoverer Enterpriser, the ship that has been siphoning the oil, told The Associated Press that after more than 10 hours, the system was again collecting the crude. The crewmember, speaking from the bridge of the ship, said the cap was placed back on the gusher around 8 p.m. local time. He asked not to be identified by name because he was not authorized to provide the information.

BP later confirmed the cap was back in place, but said it had been hooked up about an hour and half earlier. The co-ordinator said it would take a little time for the system to "get ramped back up."

Most recently, the system, which has been in place since June 4, was sucking up about 110,000 litres an hour, crude that spewed back into the Gulf yesterday unabated. At that rate, it could mean about 1,100,000 extra litres extra escaped into the water before the system restarted.

Administration accused of ignoring ruling on drilling

OIL Several companies say the Obama administration is ignoring a judge's decision to strike down a six-month ban on deepwater drilling.

After the Deepwater Horizon exploded in the Gulf of Mexico in April, the Interior Department halted approval of any new permits for deepwater projects and suspended drilling on 33 exploratory wells.

U.S. District Judge Martin Feldman overturned that ban Tuesday.

A little luck can go a long way

Relating

Goodbye columns are a bit self-indulgent, but I figured you might as well hear it from me: This is it for us — this is my last Relating column.

I hope this news doesn't bring about sadness (or too much gladness, either!)

I enjoyed our little bi-weekly thing. Thanks for reading me and my gorgeous, brilliant co-columnists, Andrea Woo and Sofi Papamarko. We hope it was good for you, too.

I'll admit this column felt like a strange bit of casting for me from the outset. As I said right off the top, the intricacies of relationships have always escaped my understanding. My good ones have felt a lot like luck, and nothing I wrote on the subject should be construed as advice — or even a clue.

I probably should have included that disclaimer on every column thereafter. My sincere apologies go out to anyone who tried to navigate a real-life relationship using this column as a chart.

I was reminded of just how tricky advice of this sort can be, how any given theory on relationships might not be any truer than its obverse, as I talked to a good friend the other day. He's single and trying to shake this stubborn condition with the help of eHarmony.

As a result, he's been through a lengthy series of one-off dates that have generally gone nowhere, but I assured him he was probably on the right track. Everyone he meets through the online service, I reasoned, has at least decided, like him, that she's serious enough about finding someone to take the step of registering and setting up dates. They're trying, you're trying and it makes sense to keep trying, right? It seemed self-evident.

But maybe, said my friend, when you stop looking is when you're finally, paradoxically, more likely to find someone. That sounded right, too, because it seems to happen quite a bit.

It's happened to me. I got lucky out of the blue. Kathryn made me lucky. So if I have occasionally come up a little short on specific wisdom to impart, I hope some of my luck has at least rubbed off on you. We all need it sometimes.

Steve Collins offers his best guesses on relationships for Metro every two weeks.

Debunking some popular feminist myths

FourthWave

After a year and a half of sharing my views (hopefully ideas that show feminism isn't just a punchline), this is my last column. I'd like to leave you with some parting thoughts. When I tell people I'm feminist, I usually get one of these reactions. I hope these myth-busters help change the conversation:

Myth No. 1: Feminists are just hairy-armpitted, lesbian, spinster hags.

Some of us don't shave regularly, but that's because it's such a damn chore! But seriously, feminists work hard to shine a light on the many issues women face. When people dismiss our ideas, focusing instead on appearance or sexual orientation, it just proves prejudices still exist!

Myth No. 2: Equality has been achieved.

Canadian women have parallel lives: They make up the majority of the workforce and post-secondary enrolment, yet still earn less, are less likely to be managers, and do the majority of housework. The quality of life among low-income and aboriginal populations is lower than the average; in Nunavut, the child mortality rate is four times the Canadian average. Does that sound like equality to you?

Myth No. 3: Feminists hate men and want to put them down.

No one is looking to rule over men, we're just looking out for the little guys (in a manner of speaking), whether it's racism, homophobia, classism, or even patriarchy. Any guy who has been expected to be a provider, a leader or play sports knows how burdening social expectations can be. A feminist who puts down someone else is no feminist.

Myth No. 4: Modern feminism is so trivial.

That's only if you consider feminism to be the domain of the Western world. Consider that in the developing world, a woman dies every minute either in pregnancy or in childbirth, and 90 per cent of these deaths are preventable; women are trafficked into the sex trade; women in many parts of the world have no access to health care, education or jobs. As long as these stories exist, there is always a woman who needs a helping hand.

It's been a good run, and thanks for listening. Stay in touch at caniceleung.com.

Canice Leung is a former editor of Ryerson University feminist magazine McClung's, copy editor at Metro, ardent feminist and loudmouth.

Ottawa taking aim at dirty coal

The federal government is adopting tough new regulations aimed at cleaning up coal-fired electricity generation.

"Most of Canada's coal-burning electricity plants are both dated and dirty," Environment Minister Jim Prentice said yesterday.

"We have a responsibility as a country to reduce our carbon emissions."

The proposed regulations will impose stringent performance standards on new coal-burning power plants, as well as older ones that are looking to extend their operating lives.

"Our regulation will be very clear: When each coal-burning unit reaches the end of its economic life, it will have to meet the new standards or close down — no trading, no offsets, no credits," said Prentice.

13% Coal-burning electricity-generation units create 13 per cent of Canada's greenhouse gas emissions. There are 51 units — and 33 will come to the end of their economic lives by 2025.

Established after consultations with industry and the provinces, the standard will be based on parity with the emissions performance of high-efficiency natural-gas generation.

Prentice said it will represent an improvement in emissions of about 60 percent per gigawatt hour generated.

Nineteen of the 33 oldest units do not currently meet the proposed new standards, Prentice added. Units that incorporate carbon capture and storage will be exempt from the standards until 2025.

Under its Copenhagen Accord commitments, Canada aims to reduce greenhouse-gas emissions by 17 per cent below 2005 levels by 2020.

Japan What'll $9.5 million buy?

ITSUO INOUYE/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nissan CEO Carlos Ghosn raised the ire of some at the annual general shareholders' meeting in Yokohama, near Tokyo, yesterday by announcing he earned $9.5 million US for the fiscal year ended March. A new rule in Japan requires disclosure of pay for executives receiving $1 million US a year or more.

Retail sales dipped in April: StatsCan

ECONOMY Canadian shoppers' reluctance to open their wallets in April points towards slower economic growth for the rest of the year, but not the start of a serious downward trend in consumer spending, economists say.

"We usually look beyond the one-month dip; we look at the longer-term trend, and conditions are still present for Canadian consumers to continue to spend," said CIBC economist Krishen Rangasamy.

Retail sales decreased to $36.2 billion in April, down two per cent from March. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Is a viewing revolution in the works?

TECH Too many World Cup games, not enough time?

Squint your eyes and flip on your phone — the beautiful game is the latest sport to be beamed directly to cellphones as mobile carriers in Canada continue to experiment with delivering live television on the go.

One industry analyst says it's another sign that widespread live TV will be a reality — eventually.

Rogers customers with smartphones can, for a fee, download an app that connects them to CBC's coverage of the World Cup.

Rogers spokeswoman Tess Van Thielen says it's about delivering content to every screen: TV, computer and mobile device.

Technology analyst Carmi Levy says it will probably still take a few years for mobile carriers to offer anything that resembles full cable on phones — but he says it's inevitable.

"Carriers are ... balancing their need to provide an effective online wireless experience ... with the need to hold the budget on building out their wireless network. At some point, more of us will be watching television on our wireless phones." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Jays drop pitcher's duel to Cardinals

MLB RESULTS

Cardinals 1 Blue Jays 0

MLB The difference in a tightly contested pitcher's duel is often a single pitch, a hot hitter, or some good fortune.

A little bit of all three ended up costing the Toronto Blue Jays in a 1-0 interleague loss to the St. Louis Cardinals last night, when the red-hot Matt Holliday scooped a down and away slider from Kevin Gregg into left field to bring home the winning run in the ninth.

The burly closer thought he twice made pitches to get out of the inning level only to watch both of them fall in and do damage.

The first was a fastball that broke Felipe Lopez's bat but ended up in centre with two outs leaving runners on the corners.

The other one was to Holliday, who is now 13-for-22 during a five-game hit streak.

"I wouldn't take it back, I'd do that pitch again," said Gregg. "If I can make him that off-balance on a swing, I'll take my chances. You make your pitch, you're going to get them out more times than not. Today I made my pitch and I didn't get him out."

Gregg's misfortune came after Ricky Romero escaped a couple of early jams unscathed and proceeded to trade zeros with Cardinals ace Chris Carpenter for eight brisk and entertaining innings. Even that wasn't enough for the Blue Jays (38-34), who lost their third straight before a crowd of 14,079 at Rogers Centre.

Lee dominates again

- Cliff Lee struck out nine in his second consecutive complete game and the Seattle Mariners beat the Chicago Cubs 8-1 last night for their sixth consecutive win.

Rookie Michael Saunders homered and drove in four runs for Seattle. Ichiro Suzuki had a two-run single. Lee (6-3) allowed nine hits and walked none in his American League-best fourth complete game this season and No. 17 for his career. He lowered his ERA to an AL-best 2.39.

Byfuglien traded to Thrashers: Report

The Stanley Cup champion Blackhawks and the Thrashers were awaiting NHL approval yesterday on a multi-player blockbuster trade that would send Dustin Byfuglien, Brent Sopel and Ben Eager from Chicago to Atlanta, according to a person familiar with the negotiations.

The person spoke to The Associated Press on condition of anonymity because the trade had not received final approval from the league.

Chicago also would send a prospect to Atlanta and acquire first- and second-round picks in this week's NHL draft as well as forward Marty Reasoner and prospect Jeremy Morin.

The trade clears salary cap space for the Blackhawks and provides more experience for the Thrashers.

Chicago's Duncan Keith, who won the Norris Trophy last night as the NHL's top defenceman, said the Blackhawks had to start making changes even though the Cup victory was still fresh in their thoughts.

"There might be some more and it's not going to be fun," Keith said.

"Everybody is going to have to keep moving forward, and a lot of times that's part of the business."

Byfuglien can become a restricted free agent after the 2010-11 season.

Nicolas Mahut of France takes a break yesterday during his men's singles match at Wimbledon against John Isner of the U.S. The match became the longest ever recorded in tennis.

Will match ever end?

Even the scoreboard couldn't keep up in John Isner's marathon first-round match with Nicolas Mahut at Wimbledon.

The electronic sign keeping track courtside as the points passed and the game totals rose went blank while 23rd-seeded Isner of the United States and French qualifier Mahut played — and played and played — the longest match in tennis history, until action was suspended yesterday because of darkness at 59-59 in the fifth set.

"Nothing like this will ever happen again. Ever," Isner said in a courtside TV interview.

The match already had been suspended because of fading light Tuesday night after the fourth set.

They have been playing each other for a total of exactly 10 hours — seven hours six minutes in the fifth set alone, enough to break the full-match record of 6:33, set at the 2004 French Open.

"He's serving fantastic. I'm serving fantastic. That's really all there is to it," Isner said.

Also yesterday at Wimbledon, Roger Federer advanced to the third round by beating qualifier Ilija Bozoljac 6-3, 6-7 (4), 6-4, 7-6 (5). Aleksandra Wozniak of Blainville, Que., is not moving on after a 4-6, 6-2, 6-4 second-round loss to fourth-seeded Jelena Jankovic of Serbia. Wozniak was the last Canadian in the singles draw after Stephanie Dubois was eliminated in the first round.

"It was very surprising," Nash said yesterday. "I didn't foresee that. We were all disappointed. But now that it's happened we wish him the best and we got to move on."

Stoudemire wants a maximum contract and has said he will opt out of the final year of his deal and test the free agent market if he doesn't reach an agreement with Phoenix before the deadline at the end of this month.

Brazil aims to keep rolling

GROUP G PREVIEW

Brazil vs. Portugal

VS

Already through to the next stage of the World Cup, Brazil wants to keep its momentum going into the round of 16 by beating Portugal tomorrow.

A win would also allow Brazil to finish first in Group G, possibly avoiding a match against European champion Spain in the next round.

Brazil can finish first even with a draw in Durban. The team leads the group with six points, two more than Portugal, which virtually clinched a second-round spot after defeating North Korea 7-0. Ivory Coast has one point and the Koreans zero.

"Brazil needs to go into the match thinking about winning it," said Kaka, who will not play after being sent off against Ivory Coast. "It's fundamental to finish first. We know a draw will be enough, but winning will be important to give us confidence and motivation for the round of 16. Brazil will try to win this match."

A victory also would allow Brazil to play the second-round match in Johannesburg, where it has been training since arriving in South Africa last month.

The second-place team will have to travel to Cape Town for the round of 16.

Will history repeat itself?

England looks to 1990, when team overcame slow start

GROUP C RESULT

England 1 Slovenia 0

VS

Twenty years ago, England struggled through the first round of the World Cup, just as they have done in South Africa.

Back then, the team still made the semifinals.

So maybe the 1966 world champions should be hopeful again.

In 1990, England laboured through 1-1 and 0-0 draws in its first two group games and went on to win the third 1-0. The team did exactly the same thing this year.

"We thoroughly deserve to go through. I thought all the players that started the game and all the subs were terrific today," Liverpool midfielder Steven Gerrard said. "We need to find consistency now in the knockout stages."

The parallels between the two teams extend beyond the results as well. The coach then, Bobby Robson, faced the same criticism from the media that Fabio Capello is now, but he survived to take the team deep into the tournament, eventually losing a penalty shootout to West Germany in the semifinals.

"I think if we play like we did today and keep listening to the manager and keep delivering what he's asking we've got the quality you need to win football matches, anything can happen," Gerrard said.

Just like in Italy, this World Cup campaign is having emotional and sticky moments, with England booed off the field by its own fans after a dismal 0-0 draw with Algeria and reports of unrest in the squad.

The team would have gone out if it had not beaten Slovenia 1-0 at Nelson Mandela Bay Stadium yesterday.

Capello, an emotional coach who was waving his arms and repeatedly shouting at his players, said the team had rediscovered the spirit it seemed to have lost.

"I saw the team really well on the pitch, with the spirit that we lost in the games we played before this one," the Italian said.

"I'm sure we will play more with confidence. We have found the spirit, the quality of the play was really good and we improved a lot physically. We found the physicality that we know usually.

"The players were the same that we see in the Premier League."

GROUP D RESULT

Germany 1 Ghana 0

Germany beat Ghana 1-0 on a second-half goal from Mesut Oezil to win Group D and set up a second-round World Cup clash with old rival England.

Ghana also advanced despite yesterday's loss and became the first African team to make the round of 16 at the first World Cup held on the continent.

"It was a tense game. We could have made more out of our opportunities," Germany coach Joachim Loew said. "We were not very precise up front. But I can't blame my young players, there was a lot of pressure, we had to win. And now we are really looking forward to England.

"It's going to be a special game, there is so much history between us. It's a team with many excellent players and a lot of experience. (Wayne) Rooney can explode any time, we'll have a tough job."

Germany won the group with six points and Ghana was second with four, going through on goal difference thanks to Australia's 2-1 victory over Serbia.

Oezil rifled a left-footed shot from outside the area into the left corner of the net to break the deadlock in the 60th minute after both teams had wasted a number of chances.

"I simply shot the ball, but I should have scored in the first half too," said Oezil, who was voted man of the match. "I had a lot of support from my teammates. It doesn't matter whom we play next, we have to keep winning."

Jackson's spirit kept alive by fans

CEMETERY Hundreds of fans are expected at Forest Lawn tomorrow to commemorate Michael Jackson's death. The singer's tomb inside the cemetery's gothic Great Mausoleum remains closed to the public, and Friday's memorial won't change that.

But through the efforts of fans, it's become a place where Jackson's international fan base comes to grieve. Many who can't make it in person send letters, poems, artwork and other gifts so that Jacobs and others can deliver them to the cemetery, where they are placed at the singer's tomb until new items arrive. Remembering MJ

Childhood hometown to hold memorial for Michael Jackson

The childhood hometown of Michael Jackson is planning a tribute Friday at his former house to mark the one-year anniversary of his death, and the mayor says his mother is among the people expected to attend.

Gary Mayor Rudy Clay says Katherine Jackson will attend the event along with her granddaughter, Genevieve Jackson, the daughter of Randy Jackson. The event will include speeches, performances and a candlelight vigil.

"We expect thousands to show up," said city spokeswoman LaLosa Burn.

Workers at the house on Tuesday said Katherine Jackson wanted the house spruced up for the event.

The flowers, balloons, stuffed animals and signs that covered the front lawn for weeks after Jackson's death from an overdose of sedatives are gone.

The tiny house already has a new roof, a fresh coat of white paint, newly poured concrete along the walkway and driveway and is surrounded by a black wrought iron fence.

The only time Jackson has returned to his hometown was in 2003, when plans for a Michael Jackson Performing Arts Center in the city's downtown were announced. It was never built.

Jackson's father and city officials announced plans earlier this month to move ahead with plans to build the performing arts centre and a museum, but many in the city have their doubts whether it will ever be built.

The city hopes to make the memorial an annual event. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tupac Shakur

Tupac Shakur song lives on

RECORDING Rapper Tupac Shakur's song Dear Mama, Bill Cosby's second comedy album and rare battle sounds from Second World War are among 25 recordings the Library of Congress is preserving for their cultural significance.

Selections for the 2009 National Recording Registry are being announced Wednesday. They must be at least 10 years old and be culturally, historically or aesthetically significant.

The combination of Cosby — an outspoken critic of profanity and violence in hip-hop culture — with work from a rapper who was shot and killed in 1996 is notable, but organizers said Tupac's Dear Mama was a heartfelt homage to mothers struggling with addiction and poverty.

It's also a "relatively tame" recording, and the cultural impact of hip-hop is undeniable, program coordinator Steve Leggett said. Tupac is the third rapper inducted, following Grandmaster Flash and Public Enemy.

In announcing the registry, Librarian of Congress James Billington said the list "showcases the diverse beauty, humanity and artistry found in the American soundscape."

The new additions include performances by Little Richard, Willie Nelson, REM, Patti Smith and the 1923 recording Canal Street Blues by King Oliver's Creole Jazz Band.

Entertainment in brief

BOX OFFICE They've come a long way from the trailer park. The foul-mouthed Trailer Park Boys raked in the most money at the English-Canadian box office last year with The Trailer Park Boys: Countdown to Liquor Day. Telefilm says the comedy grossed $2.9 million in 2009, and has earned the film's director and writers Telefilm's inaugural Golden Box Office Award. A cash prize of $40,000 will be split between director and co-writer Mike Clattenburg and co-writers Timm Hannebohm, John Paul Tremblay (who played Julian), Robb Wells (Ricky), and Mike Smith (Bubbles). So far, the sci-fi horror flick Splice starring Canadian actress Sarah Polley and Adrien Brody, is a serious contender for next year's prize after already surpassing the $1 million mark since its release earlier this month.

Rookie actors are TV veterans

Homegrown stars relish opportunity to suit up on own turf

PHIL BROWN
for Metro Canada

It was a surreal experience for actors Missy Peregrym and Gregory Smith to don their cop uniforms for the first time.

"I felt like it even changed the way that I talked," said Smith, who plays Dov, a new cop in the Global series Rookie Blue.

"Normally I feel the need to fill awkward pauses with meaningless words. But when I put the uniform on, I could just be quiet," adds Peregrym, who plays newbie officer Andy McNally on the series — which premieres tonight.

"It gives you strength. It feels like you're the one with power, so it's ok if you don't say anything. They're supposed to be intimidated, not you."

Rookie Blue premieres tonight on Global

Surrey, B.C. native Missy Peregrym stars as a rookie officer in the new Global series Rookie Blue

Following the success of Flashpoint, Rookie Blue is also a co-production between the U.S. and Canada. The cop drama is about a team of first year police officers struggling to find their way on the force

While it was shot in Toronto — with an almost entirely Canadian cast and crew — it has lush production values and a sexy young cast, making it look more like a big budget American production.

Peregrym, a Surrey, B.C., native, and Gregory Smith. are both veterans of American productions like Heroes and The Patriot, and relished the opportunity to return home for Rookie Blue.

"That was actually one of the things that I was most excited about," said Smith. "I was born in Toronto and it's my favorite city in the world. I've shot all over the place and there's nowhere better."

"I've worked on projects in the States where it feels very much a job and can be incredibly impersonal. But the crews here are almost like a family," adds Peregrym.

Also appearing

- Enuka Okuma, from Vancouver, also appears in Rookie Blue. She appeared as Sheri Davis in the series Madison.

Oscars to get new blood

AWARDS Hollywood veterans Bruce Cohen and Don Mischer will oversee the next Academy Awards.

The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences said Tuesday that Oscar-winning producer Cohen will oversee the Feb. 27 show with live-event maestro Mischer, who will also serve as the telecast's director.

It will be the first time either has worked on the ceremony, though the two previously teamed up for the Academy's inaugural Governors Awards event in November.

"I fell in love with the Oscars as an 8-year-old kid, the night my grandmothers let me stay up to watch for the first time," Cohen, who won an Oscar in 1999 for American Beauty, said in a statement. "It is a dream come true for me to now be producing the show."

The Taming of Miley

Miley Cyrus

Album: Can't Be Tamed
Label: Universal
Rating: ⊕⊕½

MILEY CYRUS TRIES to shake her tweeny TV image with lush beats, and autotone set to overdrive. Her leather pants, just-got-outta-bed hair and come-hither pout suggest she's taking a sharp turn to skankville. Don't panic. The danceclub stuff never gets too out of hand and by the fourth track Miley settles into a groove that undulates somewhere between Taylor Swift and Ke$ha. She's best when leaning toward the country side of things on tracks like Every Rose Has Its Thorn and Two More Lonely People. This CD will please loyal fans. It's hard to imagine her making any new ones yet, though.

Herbie Hancock

Album: The Imagine Project
Label: Sony
Rating: ⊕⊕⊕⊕½

THE LAST TIME Herbie Hancock decided to focus around a theme, he won the Grammy for Record of the Year. Then the focus was the music of Joni Mitchell. This time around, his theme is much more ambitious — the music of the world. The master jazz pianist has drawn around him some of the finest musicians on the planet to create remarkable pastiche of, well, just about everything. He has Pink, Seal, India.Arie, Jeff Beck working with an African percussion ensemble on John Lennon's Imagine, the opening track. The Imagine Project may be the best "world music" record ever made.

Graham Rockingham/for Metro Canada

Eminem

Album: Recovery
Label: Universal
Rating: ⊕⊕⊕

EMINEM WANTS TO apologize. His last two discs weren't great and he's sorry. "Them last two albums didn't count Encore I was on drugs, Relapse I was flushing 'em out." While Recovery is definitely a step up, it's not a return to Slim Shady LP-like form. The problem may lie with his producers — Dr. Dre, who's helmed almost all of his music, was relegated to one song, while a roving cast of DJs did the rest. The record is uneven as a result, floating from aggressive to mundane and everything in between.

Bryan Borzykowski/for Metro Canada

Sarah Harmer

Album: Oh Little Fire
Label: Universal
Rating: ⊕⊕⊕⊕

IT'S EASY TO forget that Sarah Harmer made a name for herself playing rock tunes in Weeping Tile. Her post-band career has been of the folk pop variety, and while that's served her well, it's nice to see her turn up the amps again on Oh Little Fire, her first record in five years. The disc still features her delicate voice and plenty of fragile, heartwarming songs, but rollicking pop tracks like the infectious Captive are a nice addition to her already impressive oeuvre.

Stars

Album: The Five Ghosts
Label: Arts & Crafts
Rating: ⊕⊕⊕⊕

THE ATTRACTION OF Stars is the Canadian indie band's ability to blend late night horror lyrics into charming, almost sentimental, melodies. Chief songwriters Amy Milan and Torquil Campbell have never done it better than on their latest with songs like Dead Hearts and I Died So I Could Haunt You. Milan's little-girl vocals belie the shrouds floating by on the multi-banked synthesizers. And yet the sound never degenerates into '80s Goth retrograde. On The Five Ghosts, Stars take a step with Metric toward pop stardom.

ANYA LEVYKH/FOR METRO VANCOUVER

Qualicum Bay scallops, lobster ravioli and peeled asparagus at Fraîche Restaurant.

2 years of top eats

ANYA LEVYKH
anya.levykh@gmail.com

It's always hard to say goodbye, especially to something you've enjoyed doing. And I have truly enjoyed writing this column for the past two years and working with the wonderful folks here at Metro.

But timing is everything, and with new opportunities on my horizon and big changes for this publication (stay tuned), this seemed like an organic time to wrap things up. If you'd like to stay in touch in future, I can be found at foodgirlfriday.wordpress.com.

Instead of writing yet another review, I thought I would look back at some of my favourite food experiences from the past two years. In no particular order. Enjoy.

FRAÎCHE RESTAURANT

2240 Chippendale Rd.
604-925-7595
fraicherestaurant.ca

It's ironic that this was the very last place I reviewed for Metro, as it also happened to be the very first. Over the past two years, it has changed chefs and gone through several seasonal menus, but the attention to quality and taste has only improved, and with chef/co-owner Dino Renaerts now at the helm, things are sure to continue along the same path. I had a culinary epiphany here with a very simple dish of seared Qualicum Bay scallops, housemade lobster ravioli, and peeled asparagus, drizzled with lobster vinaigrette.

THE POURHOUSE

pourhousevancouver.com

This spot snagged the number one spot on my Top 10 list for 2009 for their redone comfort food menu and excellent bar program. My "moment" here arrived in the form of some Humboldt squid, scored, grilled and served up as large, juicy steaks topped with crispy flakes of garlic, threads of chilli pepper, and fresh chopped green onion.

CHARLIE'S RESTAURANT & BAR

1265 Hamilton St.
604-568-6685
charlielovespizza.com

This is a place to have a cocktail, down a few slices of pie, and watch Argentina kick Greek butt. I wasn't expecting much here, but it turns out these pies are the ones I would want if I ever had to choose my last meal. In particular, the poutine pizza, with its bordelaise sauce base, shaved fingerling potatoes crusted in rosemary salt, and the abundance of squeaky cheese curds that sit partially melted over the whole.

MIS TRUCOS

1141 Davie St.
604-566-3960

This modern Mediterranean tapas bar has redefined the meaning of sexy food. Start with the wild venison tartare on brioche with truffle and a slow-cooked quail's egg, and finish with the white truffle and lobster risotto finished with herbed crème fraîche.

AU PETIT CHAVIGNOL

I firmly believe that if you were to strand me on a deserted island with cheese and bread, I would never leave — at least, not until I needed a refill. And Au Petit would be the first place I would go. Their housemade chicken liver and cognac pâté with apricot glaze has caused many palpitations of the clicker since they opened their doors.

Kimmel does show with laptop cam

The picture was fuzzy. The sound was tinny. Jimmy Kimmel Live! was less like a broadcast than a webcast.

No wonder.

"We're having a technical problem tonight, so I decided to do the whole show from my computer,'' Kimmel explained at the top of the hour in his office, one hand holding his laptop as he aimed its built-in webcam at himself.

Who needs expensive TV cameras, a fancy control room or high-tech recording gadgetry?

"We're having a technical problem tonight, so I decided to do the whole show from my computer."
Jimmy Kimmel

Not Kimmel, when faced with a power outage right before show time. For Tuesday's edition, the resourceful TV host turned his late night chat show into iChat.

Walking on stage toting his laptop with him, he pivoted the webcam to display his cheering studio audience.

"Can't we just plug into whatever that beacon is, right there?" he asked, pointing to the bright studio lights.

Alas, no. The lights worked fine, but the outage had shut down the control room, broadcast transmission centre and tape operations area at Kimmel's Hollywood studio. Things had gone on the fritz Monday shortly before the ABC late-night show was scheduled to begin taping.

"I don't know if this is going to work," he said more than once, appearing genuinely perplexed.

But it did, in a goofy, amateur-hour, show-must-go-on sort of way.

Even so, the unconventional production technique caused a day's delay. A repeat episode of "Jimmy Kimmel Live!" aired Monday. (The show airs weeknights at 12:05 a.m. EDT.)

Kimmel chatted up members of the audience in a bald effort to kill time.

"You see, we don't need celebrities to do this show," he joked.

But he had celebrities. Guests included film star Seth Rogen, comedian John Henson and country artist Dierks Bentley.

"Are we still on? Yeah, this is still working," Kimmel said, apparently checking himself on his laptop screen in mid-interview with Rogen.

"Yeah, it's working," Rogen said. "It's amazing, isn't it?"

The audience cheered distortedly.

Postproduction was kept to a minimum. A clip from "The Green Hornet," the film Rogen was plugging, was added later, with the studio audience deprived of so much as a glimpse.

"Not only will these people not be able to see it," Kimmel cracked, "but they're not allowed to come to the movie."

Kimmel interviewed Henson, a co-host of the game show "Wipeout," in his dressing room.

Back in the studio, Bentley and his band managed to fit into the webcam frame to perform a song.

"I promise nothing terrible like this will ever, ever happen again," Kimmel told viewers as he signed off.

Of course, Kimmel isn't the only late-night host to be plagued by (and to overcome) a technical glitch recently.

Host Jimmy Kimmel jumped in with his webcam when the power went out.

Last October, "Late Late Show" host Craig Ferguson had to finish taping his program by flashlight after high winds knocked out power at CBS Television City in Los Angeles. Studio lights began dimming and then suddenly went black as Ferguson was interviewing actress Alicia Silverstone, leaving both in the dark until the flashlight was switched on.

Radcliffe immune to Bieber fever

SAID ONE TEEN ICON ABOUT THE NEXT Daniel Radcliffe may not have heard of Justin Bieber until recently, but after his recent comments, he'll certainly be hearing from the pop star's fans. "I only heard Justin Bieber for the first time two weeks ago," the Harry Potter star tells MTV News. "I genuinely thought it was a woman singing. I'd never heard it before. Is it big in England yet? I'm so out of the loop when it comes to pop culture that I kind of don't even try anymore." He's not completely in the dark when it comes to music, though. "I know who Lady Gaga is," Radcliffe says. "I think she's kind of amazing. She's really got a voice. My God. Not my kind of music, particularly, but she can really sing."

Seinfeld blasts 'jerky' Gaga

AND THUS CLAIMS HIS SPOT IN THE PANTHEON OF CROTCHETY OLD MEN. SEINFELD FANS: YOU'RE OFFICIALLY OVER THE HILL Lady Gaga does not have a fan in Jerry Seinfeld. "That woman is a jerk. I hate her," he tells WFAN during an on-air interview. The pop singer had been moved to Seinfeld's luxury box during a Mets game after she was giving photographers the middle finger from her field-level seats. "I can't believe they put her in my box, which I paid for," he says. "You give people the finger and you get upgraded? Is that the world we're living in now?"

Mel takes up hypnosis

IT'S THE ONLY WAY HE CAN STILL CONVINCE WORLD HE'S A STAR Mel Gibson has apparently picked up a new skill, though it's not clear how he plans to use it. The actor and director recently took a private crash-course in hypnotism with Rick Collingwood, an Australian expert. "Mel's a natural. He's got the look and the patter — as well as piercing blue eyes. He's going to be a great hypnotist," Collingwood says, according to Popcrunch. "I was with him for 10 days teaching him the technique. He is very, very interested in it. He didn't say he wanted to learn it for a specific reason. He was just curious."

A landmark building in Coquitlam will soon become part of the new city centre, standing 37 storeys and taking the title of being the tallest tower in the area.

Located directly across from Coquitlam Centre, the 225-unit residential tower called Oasis will be a part of a greater community, says Development Manager Mike Mackay of Onni Group developers.

Commercial shops on the ground floor and an adjacent seven-storey office space will all be connected through a three-storey podium of gardens and multi-use green space.

"The mixed-use aspect of it really lends to a complete community and you're not going to have people who need to get into their car to go get a jug of milk because you're going to have a neighbourhood grocer or coffee shop," Mackay says. "The ability to really get everything you need within the community and the city centre, I think, is a goal for the city of Coquitlam."

Units range from one- and two-bedrooms with den options to lower-level sub-penthouses and two exclusive penthouse suites, all with floor-to-ceiling windows offering panoramic views and lots of natural light.

"Basically, it's going to be a gateway to the new residential village, walking distance to the proposed Evergreen Line with sweeping views of mountain ranges, Mount Baker, Port Moody and the inlet," Mackay said.

The interior of the suites features a light oak or grey teak colour scheme with vertical grain wood laminate cabinetry and flooring. Bedrooms feature trackless carpeting and walk-in closets in the master bedrooms while ceramic floor tiles, minimalist porcelain tub and glass enclosed showers complete the clean and simple design of the bathrooms.

Semi- professional kitchens feature contemporary styling including composite stone counter tops, extended breakfast bar, stainless steel appliances and a restaurant-style pull-down faucet.

The building's resort-style amenities area called Club Oasis include a fully equipped gym, outdoor pool and hot tub, an outdoor barbecue area and putting green.

Mackay says the driving force behind the concept and design of the building is the connectivity, pulse and amenities for the owners and residents going into the future.

"That's definitely the way things are going these days. People want sustainability and everything to be within close proximity to avoid the car trips."

Bring back the oldies by hopping on the vintage train.

Give classic decor items a new home by throwing touches of vintage style into your space, creating the feel of stepping back in time.

"When scouring flea markets and antique shops, look for pieces that speak to you," said Karen Kwinter, style editor-at-large at Canadian Living and Homemakers magazines. "Either they have an heirloom feeling or just feel like a treasure to you."

Kwinter says some of the most trendy ways to infuse classic style into a room are by using vintage suitcases stacked as a side table or vintage chairs either recovered, refinished or stripped — or a modern-shaped chair reupholstered with vintage fabric.

Boost the look of your yard with vintage garden furniture, left as is or repainted, throw some jungle fever into a room with vintage animal rugs — zebra prints are especially hot right now — or make a statement with a traditional chandelier.

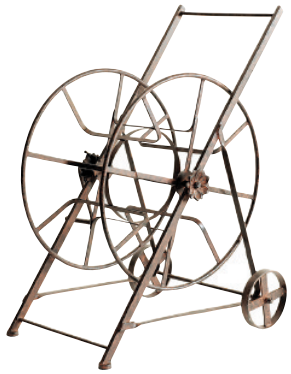
Another way to add vintage into your decor is with world globes or framed vintage maps, or silver serving pieces, tea services or trays. Try lining your book shelf with vintage books or fill a wall or shelf with old paintings, either framed or unframed.

Mixing up old and current will give the feel of modern antiquity. Placing a vintage item among newer pieces will create a casual contrast while adding a sense of history and tradition — a vibrant-hued rotary phone or antique clock is always good for a surprise.

"Don't be afraid to mix it up," says Kwinter. "Vintage goes great with both modern and contemporary. Don't want to run around? Check out eBay, it's an amazing source for vintage finds."

Hand-covered in vintage-inspired floral fabric and then distressed to reveal only a portion of its beauty, this looking glass frames your face in just the right amount of soft petals. The Uncovered Paradise Mirror ties in a Victorian renovation. Anthropology, $598, anthropology.com.

Do your garden up vintage too: Based on a French antique, the vintage design of the garden Hose Reel Wagon is great for storing and moving your extra hose around the yard. Crafted of powder-coated, moisture-resistant metal with antique rust finish, for a hose up to 200 feet long. Ballard Design, $199, ballarddesigns.com.



The Metals & Petals Vase has multifaceted mercury glass that takes on a copper or silver glow to illuminate woody stems and bare end tables. Anthropology, $24, anthropology.com.

Set the mood with the Cora Glass Candle Holders instantly adding a vintage elegance to any room. Urban Barn, $19 (small), $22 (medium), $25 (large), urbanbarn.ca.

The tiers of silver circle cutouts reflect light illuminating even the darkest space in this Silver Circle Pendant Lamp, made from silver laser-cut polypropylene, lighting up a room capturing the disco era. Urban Barn, $120, urbanbarn.ca.

The deco-inspired acrylic design of the Empire Table Lamp has an architectural flair, reminiscent of the famous Empire State Building. A clear base allows light to shine through to beautifully illuminate the room, with brightness controlled through a built-in tri-light. Urban Barn, $199, urbanbarn.ca.

The interesting shapes of the Terre Apothecary Jars were inspired by vintage druggist bottles from France. French labels add an authentic, vintage feel. They look great in bath or boudoir filled with cotton balls, make-up brushes and colorful bath salts. Ballard Design, $49 (set of 3), ballarddesigns.com.

Stuck in the middle

Precollections are becoming increasingly more important

KENYA HUNT
Metro World News

What the experts say

• Helen David, womens wear, Harrods: "Pre-collections ensure that we always have new merchandise arriving on the floor," explains Helen David, the womenswear general merchandise manager at Harrods in London. "They allow us to continue to offer the full priced customer new merchandise during the sale period, which is imperative to being able to look after this customer all year round," she adds. David notes that pre-collections are great because they're also the most commercial delivery and sit on the sales floor at full price for the longest time.

KENYA HUNT/ METRO WORLD NEWS

What exactly is a pre-collection anyway?

Consider them the more low-key, real-life cousins to the runway extravaganzas you see photos of during the fashion weeks. Increasingly big sellers in stores, pre-collections are usually more wearable.

While the clothes you see on a prêt-a-porter catwalk often look more appropriate for a fantastical magazine shoot than the street, the pre-collections are created to work in a woman's every wardrobe. And they're often shown in modest presentations in showrooms instead of big productions. (Though it's worth noting that more resort '11 collections were shown as runway shows this season than ever before).

They also give a hint at what direction a designer might go in for the prêt-a-porter season. For example, the military trend first surfaced in a Burberry Prorsum pre-fall collection.

Here's a look at a few resort '11 standouts:

Grilled Chicken with White BBQ Sauce

Recipe Developed by Paula Bowman

PREP TIME: 10 MINUTES
COOK TIME: 15 MINUTES

INGREDIENTS:

1 cup plain Greek style yogurt
1/4 cup olive oil
2 tbsp cider vinegar
2 tbsp honey
2 tbsp prepared horseradish
1 1/2 tsp salt, plus more for chicken
1/2 tsp finely ground black pepper, plus more for chicken
1/2 tsp cayenne
1 1/2 lb chicken drumsticks, boneless thighs or breasts

METHOD:

1. Preheat a grill to medium-high.
2. In a bowl, combine yogurt, 1 tablespoon olive oil, cider vinegar, honey, horseradish, salt, black pepper and ¼ teaspoon cayenne and stir until blended. Measure ½ cup of yogurt mixture and set aside for garnish.
3. In a small bowl, combine 2 tablespoons olive oil and ¼ teaspoon cayenne and stir well. Bush oil mixture on chicken pieces and season with salt and pepper. Place chicken on hot grill and cook, turning often and basting with olive oil mixture until cooked through. Chicken breasts and boneless thighs will be about 5 to 8 minutes per side, drumsticks will be about 14 to 16 minutes. During the last 6 minutes of cooking, baste chicken with remaining ½ cup yogurt mixture and discard any that remains after chicken is finished. Cover chicken with tinfoil and let rest until ready to serve.
